Athens Man Died Roller Skating

Charles Fensterer, 49, of Athens, while roller skating at the 9-W Roller Rink at Schoentag's Sunday evening suddenly dropped to the floor when seized with a heart attack. The body was turned over to an Athens undertaker.

A lace-work type of feeding on foliage of snap and lima beans is often caused by a new insect pest that first entered the state in 1927 and is now spread over nearly the entire state. It is known as the Mexican bean beetle, says Dr. R. W. Leiby of the Cornell agricultural extension service. Injury caused by the beetle and its yellow spiny grubs is often severe, and is best checked in early summer when the beetles come out of hibernation and first appear on young bean plants. Then the beetles, which are about a third of an inch long and pale yellow to brown in color with eight small black spots on the back, may often be hand-picked in small gardens and destroyed before they lay their eggs, according to Dr. Leiby.

It is easy to gather friends.
 The hard part is to ungather some

Steel-Makers Set a Record; "Boom" Halted

New York (AP)—Trade and industry rolled along at a brisk pace in the first six months of the year.

Steel-maker was the steel industry's speediest up to the highest point in the year.

Jamboree Scouts Tour Washington

Washington, D. C., June 6.—

Region II jamboree which took place Friday night in the arena was a huge success. Troop 25 took part in this show. The main feature of the show was a human flag. Some scouts had white neckerchiefs, others had red ones and a third group had blue neckerchiefs. The scouts who were stars had white umbrellas. Cheer leader James O'Brien led the troop in a gallant rip cheer.

Saturday the jamboree really started. Scouts in groups of eight could and still can obtain a pass to leave camp. One of the noted features was the means of transportation. The people of Washington became a free transportation company. They give scouts rides just about anywhere. Saturday morning some scouts were cycling, others visited the Capitol and a third group went to Arlington. After dinner many more tours were made; groups visited the Smithsonian Institute. Many scouts went to the Texas camp and purchased for 25 cents horned toads.

That evening a group went to the arena and saw the pageant of Region V and VI. Sunday morning the scouts attended church services, some went to Arlington, others to churches in Washington. Services were held on the grounds and also in the arena.

G-men estimate that three out of four bank robberies committed in the United States during 1936 were "inside jobs."

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By Associated Press

Faith is Shattered
Sheridan, Ark.—Farmer John Ingram believes no longer in the old saying that "lightning never strikes twice in the same spot." Lightning struck Ingram's barn four weeks ago, destroying it and two mules. Ingram built a new barn on the old foundation, purchased another pair of mules. Lightning repeated yesterday. Without barn or mules, Farmer Ingram said he would rebuild and rebuy—on another site.

Dogs Lose Tempers
New York—It may have been the noise of fireworks or it may have been a desire to join in the Fourth of July celebration, but something excited Manhattan's canine citizens yesterday. Bellevue Hospital reported seven persons were treated for dog bites. Health department authorities said they had been notified of at least ten persons bitten by dogs.

Play Ball
Pocatello, Idaho—Bulls can't see so well at night, members of two softball teams here have decided. Outfielders kept one eye on the bull and the other on the ball when one stalked onto their lighted field to graze. Both teams wore red suits. Nothing happened.

Quality of Mercy
Salt Lake City—All three drivers were charged with racing through town at 60 miles an hour. Jack Hooper and Bruce Johnson pleaded they were attempting to halt newly-wed Edward Dixon, setting off on his honeymoon. "I'm finishing the three of you $25 each," said Judge Reva Bos-

Does Not Lose Citizenship
A natural born citizen of the United States does not lose his citizenship by living abroad, no matter how long he stays there, unless he renounces it by becoming naturalized in the country of his choice. But if a naturalized citizen of the United States returns to the country of his birth, and remains there in definitely without contact with the American government, it is assumed that he has forfeited his American citizenship, and it remains for him to prove that he has not. Yet, a naturalized citizen who has, for instance, business connections which take him to his native land and keep him there may stay for years without forfeiting his citizenship.

An Early Day Feminist
There have always been feminists, and there is the story of long ago of the widow of a German printer who strongly objected to the supremacy of husbands, and desired to revise the text of the passage in the Bible which speaks of the subjection of wives (Genesis 3:16). The original text is "He shall be thy lord." King James version: "And he shall rule over thee." For "Her" (Lord in German), she substituted "Nar" (fool in German) and thus made the reading "He shall be thy fool."

Miss Gifford Wins Beauty Contest

Miss Eunice Gifford, 15-year-old blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gifford of Atwood, is Miss Usher for 1937, having won the beauty contest at Woodstock Sunday afternoon. She was presented with a trophy and sash denoting the honor bestowed on her by seven judges.

"I entered the contest because I contemplate a dramatic career," said the pretty blonde, "and thought that entering the beauty contest might be a stepping stone toward achieving my ambition."

She said her employer, Louis

Goffred, stationer and tobacconist of 42 North Front street, strongly advised her to enter the contest.

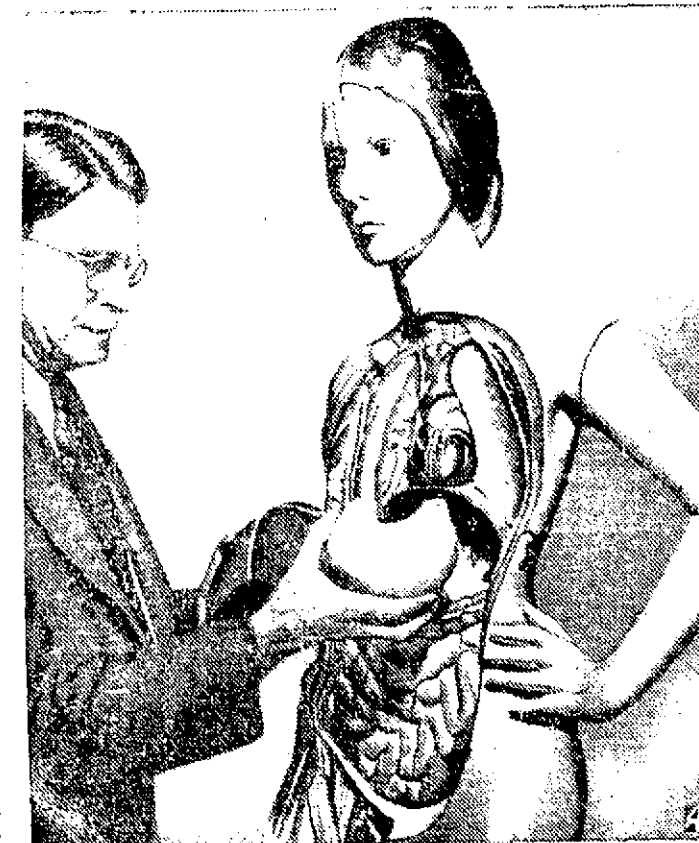

Miss Gifford has resided in Atwood for about two years. She formerly lived in Fall River, Mass.

Miss Anatomy Bares Affairs Of The Heart

THE NERVE OF THAT GUY! Imagine! Taking her stomach out, right in front of the cameraman! She looks mad enough to take a poke at her attendant but he's safe—Miss Anatomy's only a robot who lives in a New York museum.

By The AP Feature Service New York—If you have a feeling your heart's not in the right place, there's an easy way to check up on it.

Miss Anatomy, latest addition to the Museum of Science and Industry in New York, will let you extract her heart from the proper spot, for a comparative study.

And you may be sure hers is located just where it should be, for the lady was created under the watchful eye of a corps of German physicians and surgeons. Nothing's Private She's a German girl, standing five feet six inches in her bare feet. Sympathetic spectators note a frightened look in her soft brown eyes when the curtains are parted and spotlights pour relentlessly down on her. She seems to have a debonair slouch, too, but that illusion is created by her intricate hinging.

She's very patient about it all when the museum demonstrator starts taking her apart. He has a regular routine, taking out her muscles first, then the internal organs beneath, heart, lungs, stomach, all in the proper order.

If requested, he will take Miss Anatomy's brain out, simply by removing the top half of her shell-like head. Even without the minimum gray matter content, the lady's brain weighs heavily.

Keeps Two Men Busy It takes a couple of assistants to put the lady through her paces. While one is busy dissecting her interior, another operates a complicated system of lights which are so arranged to illuminate only one part at a time.

Visitors may be a bit critical of the German girl's proportions. For she's not a perfect 36. In fact, by all the rules of the best beauty books, Miss Anatomy's hips are two inches too large. But to counteract this poundage, her waist is two inches smaller than average.

Miss Anatomy's parts were sculptured exactly from the body of an actual person, so she's as life-like as artists can make her.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Garbo, the lady who in successive films has talked, smiled, danced, coughed and loved, is pulling a new one: Garbo Puzzles.

Here she is booked for a personal appearance—in court—and Hollywood, where the answers grow, can't produce one.

They'll assure you, for instance, that Garbo doesn't like her billing (defendant) in this legal drama. And she doesn't want to play opposite David Shtratter, the former European film producer who wrote the screen play. She doesn't like, especially, the story—that Shtratter advanced her $10,500 13 years ago when she needed help on a screen career. And she wants a change of title because she thinks "I.O.U." is a misnomer.

A big help, all of that. But will Garbo be there, in person, June 21 when the curtain goes up on the second "take"? Or will it fizzle, like the first, when the star failed to show?

Pros And Cons Garbo's excuse, that time, was that she was working on a picture. It looks as if she'll still be working on a picture. Shtratter's legal second argued that picture-work was no reason to slip a date with the court. Garbo's legal ditto, winning the postponement, said she'd be there next time.

And that's how it stands. Unless you're sure, as Hollywood is, that if there's any way for Garbo to escape the rude stares of the multitude she'll take it.

Garbo puzzles, too—and this is something new indeed about that "tank 1 go home to stay" retirement stories are with us again. Saucer Garbo has bought a place back home, or has that leaked past the great wall of secrecy? Will she go to stay, or will she stay to star?

One More Picture

Anyway, it looks as if Garbo will be with us a while yet. She has one more picture to do under her present contract after "Countess Walewska." Every time she completes a contract Greta goes home—but every time so far she has come back.

They're saying that, whatever the charms of Swedish castles, Hollywood has more. They're saying that Garbo has become so used to Hollywood that the place is in her blood.

Sounds reasonable, too. After 11 years in one spot you're likely to begin getting a little accustomed to it.

At The Theatres

PREVIEWED

Today

Broadway: "I Met Him In Paris." One of the outstanding comedies of the summer season invades the Broadway Theatre with a star studded cast headed by Claudette Colbert, Melvyn Douglas and Robert Young. The story concerns a modern young lady who goes on a romantic rampage that takes her to some of the swank places on the continent. She is followed by two men who seek her hand and the situations that arise are comical and entertaining. The winter sports scenes are especially noteworthy because of their beauty. Miss Colbert gives another grand performance as the carefree young woman looking for fun and her supporting cast is also above average.

Kingston: "Girls Can Play" and "Cherokee Strip." A murder mystery and a western thriller are the double features at the Kingston, the first featuring Jacqueline Wells, Charles Quigley and Rita Hayworth, the second starring Dick Foran and featuring Jane Bryan, Helen Valkis and David Carlyle.

Orpheum: "Damaged Goods." In line with the country's fight to educate the people on the matter of venereal disease comes this film story of the tragedy of innocence and its resulting consequences. It is a timely picture, dressed up for public consumption with a plot that revolves around the misfortune of ignorance and how one person's error can affect the lives and health of many.

Tomorrow

Broadway: "Fifty Roads to Town." Laughter and romance and youth join forces in the comedy attraction at the Broadway, a light, entertaining tale that spins merrily through a thrilling story of a boy and a girl on the loose and the troubles they encounter along the way. Don Ameche and Ann Southern are co-starred and the cast features Slim Summerville, Jane Darwell, Alan Dinehart, Stepin Fetchit, Allan Lane and John Qualen. A 20th Century Fox presentation directed by Norman Taurog.

Kingston: "Wings Over Honolulu" and "Border Cafe." Modern airplane history is written in the first feature at the uptown theatre as it describes the birth of the Clipper ships and the conquering of the Pacific by air. Wendy Barrie and Ray Milland are starred. "Border Cafe" is a rough and tough story of a border town and of a boy who makes good when the odds seem most against him. Harry Carey and John Beal head the players.

Orpheum: Same.

WERE YOUR COAL BILLS TOO HIGH LAST WINTER? You would be surprised at the amount of money you can waste in an under-sized, inefficient heating system in one winter. And generally a heating system that wastes fuel does not give sufficient heat when extremely cold weather comes around. We know the causes of excessive fuel consumption. And we know how to remedy them. Ordinarily the cost of modernizing your system is paid for in a few years by savings in fuel. Frequently, we are able to show home owners why a new, modern Sunbeam Warm-Air Heating System is not an expensive luxury but a downright economy. When you consider that a new Sunbeam will always give you all the heat you want—clean heat, healthful heat—with very little attention and will burn less coal, you should ask us for a cost estimate. BUDGETING MAKES DREAMS TRUE

Large-Money Purchases Easier to Make

Make your dream house come true by budgeting! With a budget you can out better, dress better, put more money into purchases like car or a house—because planned spending stops up the leaks. Should you or shouldn't you buy that "bargain-table" white hat you might wear four or five times. "It's not in the budget," you can say cheerfully. In this friendly way a budget holds down expenses for food, clothing, recreation, and challenges you to make every cent you spend return the greatest value. Budgeting takes the strain out of home buying, too. Successful budgeters say the value of your house should be no more than two and a half times your yearly income. That is, on an income of $1,500 a year, budget to meet the interest on the mortgage, payment on the principal, insurance, taxes and up-keep of a $3,750 house. A budget need not be complicated. It's simply a plan for getting what you want most. Your budget may be quite unlike the budget of the Jones next door—because you have different needs and tastes. Our 40-page booklet, HOW TO BUDGET YOUR INCOME, gives details on outlining your own, personal spending plan. It includes pages for your budget accounting. Practical hints on getting the most for your money in food and clothing. Stop aimless spending, make your money count. Send 15c for our booklet, HOW TO BUDGET YOUR INCOME, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Rattray of Mamaroneck and New York city. The ceremony took place in New York city. Miss Helen McEllan of Bridgeport, Conn., was the bride's only attendant. Mr. Rattray had his brother, Donald C. Hildebrandt Pupils Present Musical Friday afternoon, July 2, an Hour of Music was observed at the studio of Miss Jennie R. Hildebrandt, 155, Clinton avenue. This was the fourth and concluding of a series of musicales, which included the outstanding classical composers, Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven. The opening number was "Contra Dance" by Beethoven, played by Edith Ellison and Florence Crosswell. Alice Smith played "Memories," by Edwin Thorpe and "Hunting Song," by Frederika Wadley. Florence Crosswell's number was "Community Grand March" by Kern.

A pleasing vocal solo "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" was then sung by Miss Joyce Durban with Dorothy Tancredi at the piano. The next number was "Country Gardens," by Percy Grainger, played by Edith Ellison. Dorothy Tancredi's numbers were a "Romance of a Pagoda," by Charles Hahl and a "Minuet," an arrangement of a folk tune by John Tasker Howard.

Miss Hildebrandt effectively gave the three periods of Beethoven's creative contributions to music, and how he pointed the way for music of personal expression.

The "Hymn of Joy" from the Ninth Symphony by Beethoven, arranged by Edward Hodges, was most appropriately sung by Master Peter Karagorge and Louis Charchian with Edith Ellison at the piano. The phonograph records of the "Pastorale" Symphony by Beethoven; "By the Brook," "Merry Gathering of the Peasants," "The Storm," "The Shepherd's Song," "Rejoicing and Thanksgiving After the Storm," were played and the themes explained at the piano by Miss Hildebrandt, who is a member of the Piano Teachers' Congress of New York.

2 Persons Hurt On New Bridge

Saturday afternoon about 1 o'clock a call was sent to the sheriff's office stating two people had been injured in a car accident at the new bridge over the Walkkill near Perrine's Bridge. Deputy Sheriffs Clayton Vredenburg and Ray Winnie were sent to investigate.

A 1927 Chevrolet sedan operated by Joshua Sprague, 50, of R. F. D. 1, New Paltz, was attempting to make a turn from the old road into the new road at the bridge on his way to New Paltz. At the same time a car driven by Clarence E. Fox of 14 Farrington street, Newburgh, was proceeding toward Kingston. Mr. Sprague said he believed he had time to make the turn before the Fox car arrived but did not. Fox pulled to the left to avoid an accident but was unable to do so. Both cars were badly damaged. In the Fox car was Mrs. Myrtle Fox, who escaped injury but Bertha Ostander, 10, a niece, was injured about the right arm and knee. Mr. Sprague suffered from shock.

The Newburgh people were taken by the deputy sheriffs to New Paltz, and from there took a home.

Roosevelt Greets 5,000 "Neighbors"

protect themselves against their neighbors just as we do today.

If you go back in the old records of the townships of the Hudson River valley, you will find that two of the most important offices in the town were the office of fence viewer and the office of pound master. In other words, the fence viewer saw to it that the fence was equally contributed to by the men who owned the land on each side of the fence.

You had to get some public authority to prevent one man from laying down on the job and not putting up his part of the fence, and, in the same way, you had to have a pound master to keep your pigs from straying onto my land. Yes it was a delightfully simple government; but in those days they did not protect themselves in the community against those people in the community who were a little but careless about their neighbor's rights and property.

Scope of Affairs Widened At first it was mostly a community affair, and then it got to be a colony affair, and later a State affair and finally a national affair, because, as civilization has gone on and grown up, we have found that, in order to get certain things done, it was necessary to organize on a larger scale than the township scale or the county scale or even the State scale. We would not have our highways today, this wonderful system of State roads, if it were not under the direction and supervision of State government.

I was reading in a book the other day, a book talking about the politics of a little over a hundred years ago, and the good people of the Hudson River valley, who were all opposing this crazy idea of Governor Clinton to build a great big ditch from Albany out to Buffalo.

Well, the people here in the Hudson river valley had a reason to object to the building of the Erie Canal, because we at that time were the granary of New York city. Most of the wheat for the city of New York, most of the oats for the horses driven there, most of the rye, most of the corn that was used in the city, was grown in the Hudson river valley for the very simple reason that the people out in the western part of the state had no means of transporting their products to the city.

But Governor DeWitt Clinton was thinking about the whole state. He was thinking about thousands of people who had moved out beyond the Catskill Mountains—beyond of it, away out in the wilderness—and they had no way of making a decent livelihood if they couldn't get the products of their farms into the city.

And so, over the opposition of us people here in the valley, who, frankly, were too selfish in thinking only about themselves, the legislature and the governor built "Clinton's Big Ditch," the Erie Canal.

Stability Amid Change Well, it did hurt our farms in the Hudson River valley to a certain extent, but I noticed that the Myer family did not become extinct because of that and neither did the Roosevelt family. Since then, in the later generations, we have invented new kinds of crops; not just the crops that we raise on our own soil, but the crops that come to us every Summer out of the big city, and they are very welcome.

They are welcome to us who belong to the older families in the valley, because it means a more round-d-out life. And, as these new things come about, it means, of course, more complexities of government.

I hope the new generation, just like the older generation will realize that in meeting these new conditions, we are not changing the fundamentals of the American form of government. In my own opinion we are always going to keep our feet on the ground as a nation in the future, just as we have in the past.

This has been a good Fourth of July for the country. We are so much better off in the United States than a whole lot of other nations of the world, that I wish we could pass some of our poise on to them. I wish we could give them some of the fundamentals of our American democracy.

Yesterday, at Hyde Park, a very distinguished European writer, a great biographer, was visiting me and yesterday afternoon, over back of our place, at what we call the Cottage, we had a little picnic.

Our Living Remains Simple.

We had some neighbors there and we had some members of the press there. And this great biographer was perfectly amazed, because there we were, sitting around in our shirt sleeves and some of them going swimming in the pool and everybody having a good time with complete informality, and he said:

"You know, if this happened anywhere in Europe, whether it was a dictatorship, a monarchy or a republic, the head of the nation would have been surrounded by men in uniform, soldiers with bayonets, and the members of the press would have appeared in frock coats and silk hats instead of shirt sleeves and bathing suits."

You can multiply that example of the difference between our American form of living and what it is in Europe a thousand times. That is why I say I am very confident of the future of this country as long as we maintain the democracy of our manners and the democracy of our hearts.

That is why it has been a happy Fourth of July for me. Mrs. Myer, I am glad you asked me to come as far back as last February. I am glad to be here today and I hope to come back again soon.

New York's Safest 4th.

New York, July 6 (AP).—New York's safest Independence Day celebration in years was hailed by officials today, despite treatment of 395 cases of injuries due to fireworks. Hospitals reported treatment of 247 cases yesterday.

Sunday they had 148 cases. The two-day total compared with 474 last year and 1,121 in 1935, both one-day observances. The toll for the five city boroughs was 845, the New York Times said. None of the fireworks accidents was regarded as serious.

New Niagara Records.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 6 (AP).—Departing holiday travelers left new international traffic records behind today. United States and Canadian customs authorities, preliminary to a complete check-up, said travel across the scenic frontier was heaviest in their memory. Eight toll ticket booths were overtaxed at the American end of the peace bridge at Buffalo, one more than ever had been opened before to take care of traffic.

Weds Commoner

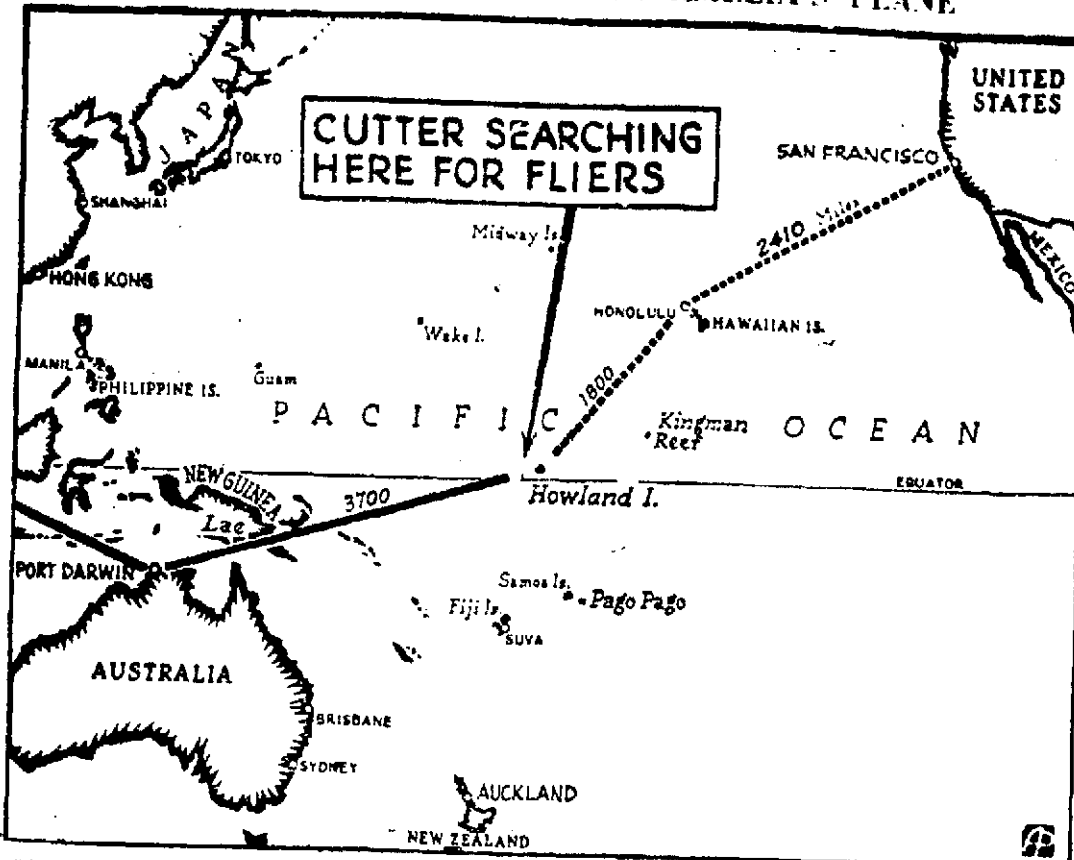

Stockholm, July 6 (AP).—Prince Charles of Sweden sacrificed any chance of inheriting the throne today. He married Countess Elsa Van Rosen, a commoner. A nephew of King Gustaf V of Sweden and brother of the late Queen Astrid of the Belgians lost his title and prerogatives in the Swedish royal family. He acquired a new title, however, becoming by royal decree Prince Charles Bernadotte. His bride, daughter of the Swedish court master of ceremonies, became Princess Elsa.

Indian Agreement

Hogansburg, N. Y., July 6 (AP).—Two-score Indian chiefs granted a guttural agreement today to a world peace plan patterned after the ancient Hodiennokseonin—the League of the Iroquois. The chiefs, representing the Cayuga, Mohawk, Oneida, Onondaga, Seneca and Tuscarora reservations, heard the plan proposed yesterday at the first convocation of the Iroquois confederation northern New York has seen since the Revolutionary War.

WHERE COAST GUARD HUNTS AMELIA'S PLANE

The route of the Coast Guard cutter Itasca, searching for Amelia Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, is shown in this map of the Pacific. The black line indicates the course traversed in the last stages of the flight. Broken line shows the route she planned to take to the United States.

When Amelia Joked About Howland Island

Several months ago, when Amelia Earhart disclosed plans for her round-the-world flight, a reporter asked her how big Howland Island would look on the map compared with the other place she would visit, and she smilingly held up her hand as shown. She apparently missed the tiny island in her flight from New Guinea.

BEFORE ILL-FATED PACIFIC HOP

Amelia Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, are shown as they rested beside their plane at Batavia, Dutch East Indies, before being forced down in the Pacific near Howland Island. The picture, sent by radio from London, is believed the last taken of the pair before their mid-ocean landing.

50 New C.I.O. Charters
New York, July 6 (AP).—Claiming more than 50 new C.I.O. charters here in six weeks, Regional Director Allan S. Haywood today visualized such eventual C. I. O. strength as one million office workers, half a million garment workers and a similar body of retail clerks. Haywood listed among almost "virgin" fields New York's 50,000 laundry workers and 20,000 transportation employees.

TRIPLE SLAYER?

Albert Dyer, 31, WPA crossing guard in Inglewood, Calif., is shown immediately after he allegedly confessed the brutal slayings of three little girls on June 26.

Won't Believe It

Mrs. Isabel Dyer, wife of Albert Dyer, was near hysteria while being questioned concerning her husband's actions at the time he allegedly lured three Inglewood, Calif., girls to an isolated spot, strangled and then attacked them. Although police claimed Dyer had confessed, the wife steadfastly refused to believe he committed the crime.

was found in a Manhattan bus station at 4 o'clock this morning. He said his mother left him there yesterday afternoon while she went shopping. She gave him 50 cents and told him to get something to eat. He said his father, John, worked for the WPA in Bradford. Bradford police were notified and John was taken to the Children's Society.

Transport Plane Missing.
Edmonton, Alta., July 6.—(Canadian Press).—Six passengers and the pilot of a tri-motored transport plane were unreported today on the maiden flight of a passenger-mail service to Whitehorse, Yukon Territory.

COLLAPSES AFTER ADMITTING CHILD SLAYINGS

This dramatic picture shows Albert Dyer, 31, who police claimed admitted slaying three Inglewood, Calif., girls, as he was carried from the district attorney's office at Los Angeles after making his statement. He collapsed and when revived was looked on a triple murder charge.

WALLY'S EX-HUSBAND WED IN DOUBLE CEREMONY

HED DO IT AGAIN

The Rev. Robert Anderson, leading little vicar who started a controversy in the church of England by officiating at the wedding of the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Windsor, was shown as he arrived in New York with Mrs. Jordan. He said if he had it to do over again he would "do the same thing."

Just Dropped In

Malden, England, July 6 (AP).—Just as his friends were starting dinner last night Test Pilot J. K. Quill literally dropped in on the party. While trying out a new British bomber he had got into a spin at 10,000 feet and had to take to his parachute. Quill made a safe landing in his friend's garden while the plane crashed on the roof of an unoccupied house nearby.

Siam's King Given Bath Before His Coronation

"May you reign for 120 years!" cries the chief priest at the coronation of a Shah of Persia. When the ceremony is over the Shah appears before his people seated on a marble throne brought from Shiraz. Surrounded by princes and ministers, he puts to his lips a pipe loaded with jewels instead of tobacco, then inquires as to the welfare of his people, and expresses his hopes for the future.

The date and time of the coronation of a king of Siam is fixed by his Brahmin astrologers. Before his coronation, writes a correspondent in London Answers Magazine, he has to endure a ceremonial bath sealed on a dais, of which the four sides are square to the cardinal points of the compass. King and dais are enclosed by curtains, then the water is turned on. This is done no fewer than eight times, the king facing in a different direction each time, and getting a thorough soaking.

Then comes a blast of unearthly music from conch shells, during which the very wet king is dried and invested with his royal robes. He then receives the nine-storied umbrella from the Chief Brahmin, together with the crown, sceptre, sword, and other regalia.

Rice plays a very important part in Japanese coronations.

George Washington, Farmer.
Washington was a mighty farmer in his day, and some idea of the extent of his farming operations may be formed from the following facts: In 1722, he had 500 acres in grass, sowed 600 bushels of wheat, 600 acres with oats, and prepared as much with barley, corn, potatoes, beans and peas. His stock consisted of 140 horses, 112 cows, 285 working oxen, heifers and steers and 500 sheep. He constantly employed 250 hands, and kept twenty-four plows going during the whole year, when earth and weather would permit.

IT'S SWELL TO FEEL SWELL!

To guard your health demand FRESH cigarettes

They BOTH Feel Swell! ... Young Miss Mary Perry of Cleveland—old Mr. W. C. Perry of Indianapolis—granddaughter and grandfather. Both say: "It's swell to feel swell! O.G.'s are easier on throat and nerves!"

YOU CAN'T BUY A STALE OLD GOLD

"MIGHT jes' as well smoke a parcel o' hay!"

But he quit being picknicky, the minute he tried one of my Old Golds. "I got to admit," he confessed, "this here cigarette is fresh an' tasty as berries an' cream! Fact is... I like it!"

So will you! ... Old Golds are tasty because the price crop tobaccos, blended in them, give these cigarettes an appealing double-mellow flavor all their own! And Old Golds are fresh, because every bit of their rich flavor and fragrance is guarded from dryness, dust and dampness, by an exclusive double Cellophane package. Protected by an EXTRA jacket of moisture-proof Cellophane, two jackets instead of one... Old Golds remain delightfully and healthfully FRESH despite the most trying July weather
